Message from Mr. Walters

Learning has stepped up another gear this week at Tweeddale and I have been delighted to see how the children are following classroom routines in order to maximise their learning. Each morning, after being greeted by their class teacher by name, for example, children get straight down to work with a morning activity. You can feel the energy and concentration in each classroom! Next week, on Thursday 1 October from 2pm is our first Parents Evening of the year. We are sorry that the link to book appointments did not work the first time around but this has been sorted now. Thanks for your patience. This is a key opportunity to meet your child's teacher. Please note that lessons finish at 2pm. For those wishing their child to remain in school, please let the office know. Finally, please do not forget the Macmillan Coffee Morning in our school hall on Friday 2 October. It's all for a very good cause! Have a lovely weekend!

Best wishes,

Mr. Walters
